IPI Board of Directors Slate of Nominees Biographical & Platform Information

The 2018 IPI Board of Directors slate of nominees is listed below in random order.

Mary Mabry, CAPP

Project Manager – Parking Solutions | Cardinal Tracking, Inc. | Lewisville, Texas

Mary Mabry, CAPP, has 30 years of experience in the parking and transportation industry. Her experience includes her current position as the parking solution product manager working for Cardinal Tracking, Inc., working for Winpark, and three universities in Texas. She managed parking and transportation for the University of Texas Arlington, UT Dallas, and was Associate Director for UNT. Duties included planning, developing, and implementing industry solutions for the university communities pertaining to parking and transportation requirements. She has served on the Board of Directors for TPTA for nine years and has consistently served on several IPI committees since 2015.

Platform: Through my experience and many years of networking in this industry, I believe I would bring vitality, commitment, and engagement to this position if elected to the IPI Board of Directors. I joined IPI in 2006 to engage in best practices and stay on top of the constantly changing technology in our industry. Today, after retiring from the university environment, I continue to pursue resources that enable innovation, development, flexibility, and value to share with our industry professionals. This is done through my many roles and especially through my work with TPTA and the IPI committees I serve.

Allen Corry, CAPP

Assistant Vice President | Dallas/Fort-Worth International Airport | Dallas, Texas

Allen Corry, CAPP, has been Associate Director/Director of Parking and Transportation at Ga. Tech; Director of Parking for the Town of Greenwich, Conn.; and is currently Assistant VP of the Transportation/Parking Business Unit at DFW International Airport. His experience in strategic operations and planning and personnel management was acquired during 30 years of military service. He has served on the Board of the PAG, VP of the NEPC, has Co-Chaired three IPI committees, and is currently on his fifth term on the IPI Board of Directors. Allen has bachelor's and master's degrees and is a CAPP.

Platform: I'm running for re-election to my sixth term on the IPI Board of Directors. I've been active with numerous outstanding and valuable organizational and strategic growth decisions over the past 10 years and wish to continue collaborating with the IPI Board of Directors team for its future growth and development. I'm committed to being an essential part of developing international alliances, and the overall parking and intermodal goals for the IPI's professional and educational advancements to enhance the parking industry internationally. I would be honored to continue to be an essential part of IPI's strategic master planning process.

Larry Cohen, CAPP

Executive Director | Lancaster Parking Authority | Lancaster, Pennsylvania

Larry J. Cohen, CAPP is a parking and transportation professional with over 25 years of experience. He is currently Executive Director of the Lancaster Parking Authority. His previous experiences include owning a parking company in Philadelphia, Pa.; Vice-President of Parking Planning for a New York City consulting firm; and past Director of Parking and Transportation at the George Washington University, Johns Hopkins, and University of Pennsylvania Health Systems. Larry was a four-term President of MAPA and is a PPA board member. He's spoken at numerous conferences, written many articles, and is an Ask The Experts contributor.

Platform: My platform for IPI is to expand upon my "Saving Lives" programs. These include the garage suicide prevention strategies and teenage defensive driving programs that I have spearheaded in helping to promote to fellow parking professionals. I am hoping to expand once I am on the board.

Jennifer Tougas, Ph.D., CAPP

Director, Parking and Transportation Services | Western Kentucky University | Bowling Green, Kentucky

Jennifer Tougas, PhD, CAPP, is Director of Parking and Transportation Services at Western Kentucky University in Bowling Green, Ky. Dr. Tougas began her career in 1998 at her alma mater, the University of Georgia, before moving to WKU in 2004 to create the parking and transportation services department there. She is an active member of IPI, earned her CAPP in 2009, currently serves on the Education Committee, and has previously served on the Board of Directors for the Mid-South Transportation and Parking Association. She is also actively involved in transportation planning in her local community.

Platform: To me, IPI is all about elevating the professionalism of the parking industry. I want to help lead this effort. IPI has done great work through hosting annual conferences, developing and sustaining the CAPP program, providing networking and online learning opportunities, creating the Parking Matters campaign, and creating committees to lead professional development in key areas, among others. With 20 years of professional and leadership experience, I feel I have a lot to offer this active and vibrant community. As your representative, I will listen to your needs and work with IPI to help meet them.

David Hill, CAPP

CEO | Clayton Hill Associates Ltd. | Calgary, AB, Canada

David Hill, CAPP, has held Executive Director positions in municipal and university parking organizations, industry supply and software development, and international consulting firms since 1986. He is the education coordinator for the World Parking Symposium and a regular contributor to the IPI APO program. Dave has been Parking Professional of the Year and is a frequent speaker on parking and mobility issues in North and South America, Australia, Europe, and the Middle East. He is currently CEO of Clayton Hill Associates and is on assignment as a senior parking planning and implementation specialist in Abu Dhabi.

Platform: My focus is on fiscal responsibility and solid corporate growth, as well as professional development programs and bringing international visibility to IPI. I continue to support responsible modernization of IPI's mission mandate and educational programs, and recruit new members to the organization every year. I hope to continue promoting IPI's role in making parking a great and attractive career for professionals worldwide.

Nathan Berry

Sales Director | Passport | Charlotte, North Carolina

Nathan Berry has worked in the parking industry since 2012, currently as Director of Sales for Passport. He works alongside current and prospective clients to discover their parking needs and develop solutions to best accommodate them. Having served as Vice President of Southwest Parking and Transportation Association (SWPTA) for two years (term ending in 2018), Nathan has exemplified his passion for helping drive innovation in the parking industry. He regularly speaks at parking and transportation conferences throughout North America. He received a bachelor's degree from Iowa State University School of Business and an M.Div from Wake Forest University.

Platform: I would like to leverage my experience to share thought leadership in the technology space, showcasing how municipalities have leveraged technology to improve their operations and innovate within their space. I will make it my mission to welcome newcomers to the parking industry, providing advice on navigating our industry but also leveraging their fresh ways of thinking to challenge the status quo and creating new solutions to traditional problems. I believe that a diverse group of people will help bring a new perspective to our industry and I will strive to serve all IPI members in the best way possible.

Brian Shaw, CAPP

Executive Director of Parking & Transportation Services | Stanford University | Stanford, California

Brian Shaw, CAPP, is the Executive Director of Parking & Transportation Services at Stanford University. He is a specialist in the area of sustainable transportation, having created new programs at Stanford, the University of Pennsylvania, the University of Chicago, and Emory that fostered carpooling, biking, walking, and riding public transit to campus. Under his leadership, Stanford has kept its peak-hour trips under a cap established in 2000, while the campus has continued to grow and thrive.

Platform: I want to help IPI continue its development and efforts in sustainability and mobility. With the coming advent of more technology affecting travel choices such as Mobility-as-a-Service (MaaS), and autonomous vehicles, IPI will need to continue its evolution beyond its traditional parking roots. Being located in the Silicon Valley, I am witness to and affected directly by changes in our industry. I have also tried to demonstrate in my professional work a willingness to embrace change and incorporate new approaches at Stanford. IPI is poised for greatness and I want to help make that happen.

Brian Scoggins, CAPP

Director of Municipal Services | SP+ Corporation | Maryville, Tennessee

Brian Scoggins, CAPP, is currently Director of Municipal Services for SP+ Corporation. He has over 40 years of experience in all areas of parking and traffic operations, including 25½ years with the City of Orlando as Parking Operations Manager and the past 15 years with SP+ Corporation. He is an active member of IPI and serves on the CAPP Board and Professional Recognition Committee. He served on the Board of the Florida Parking & Transportation Association for over 20 years and is currently active in over 10 other state and regional parking associations around the country. He earned CAPP in 2005.

Platform: My interest in running for the board is to help foster professional development within the parking industry especially with younger parking professionals. Having served in the industry over the past 40 years, I have personally benefited from industry leadership as well as strong mentors that I have had the privilege to become acquainted with. I want to be part of the organization that helps focus on IPI education programs, including developing a robust mentorship program. My national exposures with SRAs and service on the CAPP Board gives me a unique insight to bridge the gap and help others excel.

Mark Lyons, CAPP

Parking Division Manager | City of Sarasota | Sarasota, Florida

A native of Florida, Mark Lyons, CAPP, is an aviation enthusiast who entered the parking and transportation industry in 1989 while employed at Orlando International Airport. Since then, he has gone on in various capacities to lead parking at airports, municipalities, shuttle, and transportation systems across the country. Seeing the diversity of operations across the country, his experience and unique ability to communicate inspires teamwork and individual performance. Mark Co-Chairs IPI's Membership and Community Building Committee and has proudly served the Florida Parking Association as a Director at Large, and on IPI's Awards of Excellence and Membership committees.

Platform: I am asking for your vote for the IPI's Board of Directors! Like never before, parking professionals in every market are challenged facing the demand for technology and service transitions that satisfy customers. Applying new ways of thinking, balanced with wise counsel, will help maintain positive direction from which our Board can best serve its members. As a Co-Chair of the Membership and Community Building Committee, we have seen excellent growth in the past few years. Let me continue as your Board of Director and continue to build a strong parking and mobility community that advocates for you, the member.
